Councils take fire cuts case to court

SEVEN London councils – including Greenwich – have moved forward in their fight to stop planned cuts to London's fire service.

The royal borough joined the other local authorities in submitting a joint application for a judicial review at the Royal Courts of Justice last Thursday.

They want to reverse a decision by the Mayor of London, the London Fire Commissioner and the London Fire & Emergency Planning Authority to make cuts which include closing 10 fire stations across the capital.

The councils have also applied for an injunction preventing the cuts programme from going ahead until the judicial review application has been considered.

The move comes after the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government rejected a request by the councils to overrule the Mayor's plans.

The budget cuts were backed by the London Fire & Emergency Planning Authority last month, but were only approved on the casting vote of the chair, after the vote was tied.

Royal borough council leader Chris Roberts said, "We believe we have a strong case and that we will succeed in defending our communities from these cuts which, if they go unchallenged, will make many of our residents less safe."

"We believe the Mayor's decision is flawed

Fantastic fundraising

MAY I express my sincere gratitude and congratulate the residents of Sheltered Housing schemes Hider Court and Minnie Bennett House for fundraising a fantastic £1,850 in aid of Coffee Morning for Macmillan.
This was down to hard work of friends and residents and people who decided to support. A fantastic day was had by all with stalls, raffles and music and laughter in the background.

It just showed everybody was happy in supporting a good cause.
Special thanks must go to Emily Howard. She worked non-stop to achieve the success and created a great atmosphere that made everybody want to help her. Roll on next year and see if they can beat that amount, all for a very good cause.
Well done all!

Please bag it and bin it!

THIS is an appeal to all dog owners. Walking around Charlton including Charlton Park has become more and more an obstacle run trying to avoid stepping into one of those innumerable dog piles that litter the area.
They are often in the middle of footpaths, sometimes smudged across the pavement after some poor soul has stepped into one. Please dog owners, bag it and bin it. Thank you.

Fine drivers who block driveways

I KNOW just how the person who lives in Brookhill Road feels (GT Letters September 24). I live opposite a school in a one-way street. Every person in this little narrow road has a drive to leave parking for other users. Do they let us use our drives? Of course not, they insist on parking over the drives and when asked to move abuse is their answer. Double yellow lines across every drive would be an answer. Perhaps if the council issued a few parking tickets they would think twice about parking in front of our drives.

Although it is a one-way street clearly marked, some drivers also insist on coming in the wrong way, causing havoc. They use this road as a 'race track' because there is only one row of houses. It is a matter of time before a child is knocked down (they cross between parked cars).
Sleeping policeman in the road, or speed bumps would help.

Mrs K Porter, Eltham

● WE are sorry to hear of your problem with drivers blocking your drive. We will take enforcement action on request but realise it is always better if inconsiderate parking doesn't happen in the first place.
We always consider requests for additional yellow lines carefully but there is a legal process we have to follow before putting them in and they often have an unacceptable impact on neighbouring residents and their visitors. Similarly, we carefully consider requests for speed humps and are rolling out 20mph zones across the royal borough.
However funding is limited and we are concentrating on treating areas with the worst accident records.

DON'T FORGET TO RECYCLE YOUR COPY OF GREENWICH TIME

by Simon Banks

OLD McDonald had a farm...and now so do pupils at De Lucy Primary school.

They are the only children in the borough to have their own farm and their animal attraction is inspiring pupils with all aspects of their learning.

What started as a project where children supervised eggs and baby chicks has turned into a full working farm.

Headteacher Linda Cohen wanted to give pupils something unique and, looking out of the window one day three years ago, imagined a farm right in the middle of the grounds.

Debbie Woodger, the farm manager, said: "We started with the eggs and chickens and that led to ducks and a pond, then we got the goats and we built this space for the animals."

The farm has large pens for a Shetland pony, two pygmy goats, two kunekune pigs and a small pot-belly pig.

There are smaller pens for chickens, rabbits, guinea pigs and hedgehogs and a separate pen and pond for ducks.

"A few of the animals here are rescued, we found our newest animal, Chops the pot-belly pig, running around Abbey Wood and we gave him a loving home.

"We have also taken baby ducks on in the past who need some care and attention before we let them back into the wild," added Mrs Woodger.

The farm has been teaching the children very valuable lessons in taking responsibility for animals and how to behave around animals as well as much more.

Wayne Bushell, aged 9, said: "Every year a different year group gets to do a farm topic and you get to draw and sketch the animals. I drew the pony and my favourite animal is the hedgehog."

Year 6 pupil Alfie Fowler, aged 10, said: "I would like even more animals, perhaps a sheep." Wayne, from Year 5, said: "I would like a giraffe or maybe a zebra."

Mrs Cohen added: "The farm is a very important part of our school curriculum, and where children throughout the school can experience outdoor learning that enhances their life experiences.

"Working closely with the animals helps and will do everything in our power to stop these fire stations from closing, and to stop fire engines from being lost."

The councils' legal challenge says the cuts are unlawful, budget-driven and will have a serious effect on some residents' lives. Facing closure is Woolwich fire station along with Belsize in Camden, Bow in Tower Hamlets, Clerkenwell in Islington, Downham in Lewisham, Kingsland in Hackney, Knightsbridge in Kensington and Chelsea, Silvertown in Newham, Southwark and Westminster.

The capital would also lose 14 fire engines along with 552 operational posts.

If the plans were to go ahead the fire stations would close on January 9 next year.

Family fun day

A DAY for families to have fun together is being planned for Saturday, October 19, at the Greenwich Heritage Centre on the Woolwich Arsenal.

There will be singing, story-telling, and craft work such as making moon rocks from modelling putty and story-telling. Street dancing lessons, for older children and young teens, will take place on Drill Square. Youngsters between nine and 15 years, accompanied by a parent, can also bring a bike to the 'Vellocity' workshop for a checkover.

The event, part of the Family Learning Festival 2013, is free. It runs from 11am to 4pm. For more details visit www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/heritagecentre

Twins group sale

Anyone who wants to book a stall for £20 can contact twinsclubplussales@gmail.com

The group provides support to about 30 families locally who have twins or triplets. The group has a regular play and stay meeting at the church hall at 10am on Mondays, costing £3 and there is an annual fee to join formally.

Why the mayor was 'arrested'

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE Mayor of Greenwich was "arrested" on suspicion of stealing a large gold necklace.

But Cllr Angela Cornforth was definitely not guilty of the crime.

Instead, she had sportingly agreed to act the part of a criminal, described as being 'dressed in a long red robe and in possession of the necklace' – which was actually her own gold chain of office.

In fact, she was no more guilty than her 'accomplice', Commander Simon Bray,

ARRESTING SIGHT: The Mayor and Commander Simon Bray with the cadets and their certificates

IN TIME: The Volunteer Police Cadets' drum corps entertain visitors

head of training for the Metropolitan Police. He was 'fitted up' by having a stolen mobile phone planted on him.

The dramatic scenes were a highlight of an evening at Woolwich Town Hall, which celebrated the contribution made by the borough's police cadets.

Organised by the council's Trading Standards team, it thanked them for their help in identifying rogue shopkeepers who sell alcohol, knives, cigarettes and fireworks to under-age customers. Seventeen cadets were presented with certificates.

The role playing involving the mayor and the police chief was a demonstration of how young police officers are trained to deal with and search suspects. Among those receiving certificates were Matt 18, and fellow cadet Ugur.

Matt said: "We both arrested the Mayor and Commander Bray, following the strict procedures of what happens when someone is searched. I found the commander's stolen mobile.

"It was a really enjoyable evening, and I was presented with my two certificates, one for my Trading Standards work and one for completing a police cadet training course. I've now applied to join the Specials, and I'm waiting to hear if I've been successful. Later on I hope to go into the regular police service."

● For details on how to join the cadets telephone 07825 042853.

Free 'MOT' for your bike as farmers' market turns six

ELTHAM Farmers' Market will celebrate its sixth anniversary on October 20 with new stalls and special promotions, including a health check for your bicycle.

And the organisers, City and Country Farmers' Markets, are using the anniversary to seek fresh ideas for stalls at the market, held on the third Sunday of each month in Passey Place from 10am to 2pm.

The market sells a range of fresh local produce including fruit and veg, jams, honey and chutneys, chilli sauces, bread and cakes, organic meat, game and traditionally made sausages.

Now the organisers want to expand and are seeking businesses who can offer even more, whether it be organic, green or locally produced goods or arts and crafts, hand-made fashion items or advice services on growing or planting schemes.

Market managers are also keen to cater for the trend in vintage clothes and homewares and 'up-cycled' goods.

At the October 20 market, Dr Bike will be present to carry out minor repairs and give owners a bike 'MOT'.

As well as the free bike checks and maintenance, there'll be advice on cycling to work and getting your own personalised route plan.

There will also be led rides from the market taking in the new cycle routes at Avery Hill

Park. The led rides will be on mostly flat and traffic free routes, suitable for families and beginners. For more details and to sign up for a ride contact greener@royalgreenwich.gov.uk or call 020 8921 5100

The royal borough will have a presence with the Greener Greenwich stand to provide information on initiatives such as the Big London Energy Switch, a scheme to help Londoners save money on their energy bills.

● If you would like to get involved or have an idea you would like to discuss, contact Chris or Sophie Elder of City and Country Farmers' markets at 020 8302 9010 or email info@weareccfm.com

The Big London ENERGY SWITCH

A scheme to help Londoners get a better deal on their gas and electricity bills

Are you paying too much for your gas and electricity?

How does the scheme work?

- E The Big London Energy Switch is a collective switching scheme being run by the Royal Borough of Greenwich and a number of other councils in London
- E By gathering together a large number of people who want to lower their gas and electricity bills the Big London Energy Switch, using a third party 'switching provider', can encourage energy companies to offer their lowest prices
- E Once registration is closed, all the energy companies are invited to offer their best prices to everyone who registered
- E You will then receive details of exactly how much money you could potentially save by switching if you accept the offer
- E You can choose to accept the offer or not
- E Almost 1,800 Greenwich residents registered for the first round of the Big London Energy Switch in April, with 71% of registrants able to save money, and an average household saving £122 per year

Pick of the bunch for the Flowers

RESIDENTS on the Flowers Estate in Abbey Wood couldn't have found a better-named person to take over the chair of their community food growing project. She is Sue Flower, who was voted in at the group's annual meeting on September 29.

She will now be in charge of organising the once-forgotten and unused green space off Bostall Hill, that residents have transformed into a beautiful and well-used community food growing space. There is also a wildlife area in which children can play and learn. During the annual meeting, residents served up soup made from vegetables they had grown, and homemade apple crumble using fruit from their trees.

BLOSSOMING: members of the community growing project, with new chair Sue Flower (third from the left on the bench)

group was helped with setting up their project less than two years ago with a grant from environment charity Groundwork South East and the Co-Op.

Online help for youths

New site helps children share their problems

YOUNG people have helped to devise a new website which helps children at risk get expert help and advice.

The information-packed site was launched at www.greenwichsafeguardingchildren.org.uk to encourage young people to speak out about their problems from bullying and sexual abuse to alcohol and drug misuse.

The site also tells people what to do if they think a child is at risk and brings together expert advice for children, parents, carers, neighbours, community and voluntary organisations, health, education, care professionals, and the police, all in one place.

It's been put together by the Greenwich Safeguarding Children Board, a partnership of local agencies including health, education, probation, children services, voluntary sector and the police, who work together to safeguard children of all ages in the borough.

Board chair Kay Bell said: "Long-term we want to change the way young people go about seeking advice and support through a direct system that helps to raise awareness of issues and the support that is available. We want to build confidence among young people so they use it to ask for help and look for the information they need."

by Simon Banks

The advice specifically for children and young people includes bullying, e-safety, running away and going missing, violence at home, abuse, drugs and alcohol, gangs, guns and knives, racism, forced marriage and sexual exploitation.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the royal borough's cabinet member for children's services, said: "This new website is an easy-to-use resource that puts together lots of important information. Children and young people, and anyone concerned about their welfare, will be able to readily contact the right services, and it is an important development in the way that we protect our children."

Give your views on public transport

PEOPLE are invited to say what they think about the service provided by public transport operators in the borough. Views are wanted on how good – or how bad – their experiences are. Included in the online survey are buses, trains, the DLR, London Underground, river buses and the Emirates Airline Cable Car. Anyone who uses public transport is invited to take part and the views of people with a disability are particularly welcome. The feedback will be taken into account when royal borough councillors and staff meet with public transport bosses to review their performance.

● The survey runs until October 16, at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/haveyoursay

"This defiant musical is a cult hit in the States, where it began as a rock opera in 2000. I don't know why it's taken so long to transfer here. There is so much passion and spark, Jan Hartman's vibrant lyrics and Paul Taylor-Mills' inventive direction bring this energetic ensemble roaring into life..."

 ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH

A new play by Greenwich based playwright Roy Williams launched Black History Month celebrations in the royal borough last week.

The play, Advice for the Young at Heart, ran at Greenwich Theatre from Tuesday to Thursday exploring issues of race, family and misguided loyalties across three generations. It was one of the first locally-organised events to recognise and celebrate the heritage of the borough's Afro Caribbean and Asian communities. Throughout October events are being hosted by community groups and schools alongside special workshops and craft activities in borough libraries. Cllr Peter Kotz the borough's cabinet member for culture and creative industries, said: "This is a chance to learn more about the many diverse communities in Greenwich and to celebrate the achievements, culture and history of African and Caribbean people in the royal borough."

Highlights for the month include:

Photo finesse

Phil Barker gets new views of the river with three photo artists at a new exhibition

SCENE

AND the river flows... is a free photographic exhibition showcasing three very different and diverse views of London.

Behind the lens are three local artists Goretta Pereira, Sandra Marques and Jennifer Appiah-Phillips, who formed themselves into the Focus Finder Photography Group. The collective of artist photographers was set up to explore and promote photographic techniques and practices.

The trio met on a photography course at Greenwich Community College where they still study photography and also encourage other artists who lack support to promote their work.

The amateur photographers have been contributing to local exhibitions, art fairs and festivals but are in full focus for this exhibition at the Stephen Lawrence gallery until the 24th.

Goretta's pictures are of her working life in the "Square Mile" themed London City Skyline and shows unique views of buildings seen everyday but mainly ignored and gives them aspects ranging from constructive beauty, frightening monstrosity and even optical illusion. "On a daily basis we pass these buildings and take them for granted when we should look and realise their intrinsic beauty. They are like inhabited sculptures displaying futuristic design with technical engineering mastery," she explains.

Sandra's showcase, is entitled Woolwich in the Making, and with a special focus on women's role in the town's development. Starting with pictures of renovated buildings in Woolwich Arsenal she blends them with stirring images of women munitions workers from World War 1 the Duke of Wellington statue and ending up with modern day Canary Wharf and the Woolwich Centre.

She says: "I became interested in the way Woolwich is developing but nothing was made of the contribution of women who are and have always been a central part of the area's growth an history. Women in Woolwich have been workers, suffragists, midwives, social workers, mothers sisters and wives. Women contribute to keep this part of the city lively and colourful."

Born and raised in south east London, Jennifer takes a more personal journey. Influenced by music, fashion and trends she uses models with different looks, moods, fabulous special effects and ending with a wonderful wrap shot signifying the end of the shoot.

"More and more people express their individuality openly. It's becoming more bold and extravagant and I especially wanted the images to be in black and white so the viewer could see the image without being distracted or influenced by 'colour' " she enthused.

There's another chance to catch the exhibition when it moves from the Stephen Lawrence Gallery to Greenwich Heritage centre from November until February next year.

Fresh faces for comedy festival

ROYAL GREENWICH FESTIVALS

TWO of the country's finest young comedians - Josh Widdicombe and Seann Walsh - have been added to the Greenwich Comedy Festival weekend.

Part of the Royal Greenwich Festivals, the comedy festival weekend will be heading to some of the best-loved venues in Greenwich, Woolwich and Eltham on Saturday November 2 and Sunday 3.

Some of the UK's finest comedians will be in town for what is being billed as an unmissable few days of fun.

Previously announced were David O'Doherty; Mark Watson, Aisling Bea and Richard Herring. Up and coming acts Widdicombe and Walsh have a string of television credits on shows such as Mock The Week and 8 Out Of 10 Cats and have toured together, too.

The comedians recently performed at a charity gig at one of the festival venues last month when they had audiences in stitches at Up The Creek.

The bite-sized festival kicks off at Greenwich Theatre and Woolwich Tramshed, which is co-hosting Comedy 4 Kids.

Greenwich Theatre will host a night of hilarious stand-up at the gala Saturday night show where comedy legends Herring and O'Doherty headline.

A Sunday Special night at Greenwich's legendary Up The Creek Comedy Club will follow, hosting a very special 'all day' comedy event featuring the likes of Watson and Tony Law.

There will also be a fringe programme with free shows spread across the borough, including a comedy tour of Greenwich with comedian and television personality, Arthur Smith and a Comedy Academy giving local aspiring comedians a chance to get in on the action.

Tickets are on sale now at www.greenwichcomedyfestival.co.uk and you can keep up to date with further announcements by following the festival on Facebook and Twitter.

Theatre manager up for an award

GREENWICH Theatre manager James Haddrell has been nominated for Theatre Manager of the Year in the UK Theatre Awards 2013.

He's one of three theatre managers or employees up for the award along with Cerin Richardson of Festival and King's Theatre in Edinburgh and Brenda Walliss of from the Princess Theatre in Torquay.

He said: "This is credit to the company rather than just to me."

The awards are organised by the Theatrical Management Association and take place on October 20 at London's Guildhall.

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 360

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order.
Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

O'Reilly squaring up for national title No 6

A TRIP to Ireland and a silver medal in a new boxing tournament has boosted Jenna O'Reilly ahead of a tilt at a sixth ABA title, having won a fifth last December.

Weigh-ins took place last week for the ABAs, just a few days after the 17-year-old returned from the Celtic Box Cup in Dungarven narrowly defeated in the final.

The Eltham fighter was the only junior to take part in the contest, which attracted 300 competitors from across Europe to compete in different categories.

Jenna, who is supported by Greenwich Starting Blocks, lost out on gold by a point to 30-year-old Irish fighter Joanne Lambe, who has had 51 bouts and many in kickboxing.

But she impressed enough to be invited to train in Ireland.

"They've said they want me to go there once a month for seven days at a time to train there," said Jenna (pictured).

Having been at the London Games, carrying the flags as contestants entered the boxing arena, her passion for boxing was further recognised when she was given tickets by AEG to last Saturday's 'Carpe Diem' boxing night at The O2, featuring the professional debut of Anthony Joshua, whom she met at the Olympics.

"I really wanted to go but it was completely sold out," said Jenna, who had tried to get tickets herself.

Jenna is excited that, one day, she could take part in the Olympics herself, now that women can compete in the Games.

"Women's boxing is getting a lot more recognition now," said the teenager.

● Tickets for the Greenwich Starting Blocks dinner are £85 plus a voluntary donation of £15. It is being staged on Wednesday November 6 at The O2 and includes a visit to the British Musical Experience. possible. We've played on a lot of Astroturfs, but this is very impressive.

"After using it for the first time, we sat each group of kids down to ask them about it. The feedback from them and their parents was that it looked very professional and fantastic.

"This is a very lovely surface and we're very privileged to be able to play on it." Describing the pitch as "the best in Greenwich", Priestman added the skill levels at his club will improve hugely.

"You don't have to worry about the ball bobbling when it comes to you, so you can concentrate on developing real ball skills," he said.

"This is something the Football Association should be looking at, because if football teams across the country could play on this type of surface the standard of football would rise to a very high standard."

Indeed, the London FA's partnership investment manager Josie Clifford has already taken note. She said: "Greenwich has 237 affiliated clubs with 641 teams and there is a shortfall of artificial grass pitches in the borough, so the Coldharbour 3G pitch is welcomed.

"London FA recognises the value and benefit of football turf facilities and we were only too happy to promote this venue to our clubs."

Allstars, who have teams in the SelKent League and Kent Youth League, use the FIFA-standard pitch to train on Wednesday evenings. Priestman's under 14s - who have lost two games in three years - are due to play their matches there on Sundays from later this month.

Cllr Peter Kotz, the royal borough's cabinet member for culture and creative industries, said: "I am delighted to hear that the new pitch at Coldharbour has been so well received.

"The royal borough wants to give residents the best opportunity for sport, whether it is for competition or for recreation, and we hope all who use this pitch will enjoy it and reap the benefits of improving the level of their skills, whether they are adults or children."

Coach hails Coldharbour's new football surface as a national benchmark

by Ian Lamont

A YOUTH football club's leader has hailed Coldharbour Leisure Centre's new third generation synthetic playing surface as a benchmark for the nation.

Wayne Priestman, chairman of AFC Allstars, is so impressed that not only are all his club's 13 teams using the Eltham venue for training, some teams will be playing matches there.

His club coaches 130 youngsters, from under sixes to under 14s.

The new surface, on which football boots can be worn, replaced a sand-based artificial surface, which was at the end of its 15-year lifespan.

It was replaced by Greenwich Leisure Limited, the council's leisure partner, last month and already bookings have risen from 60 per cent capacity to 90 per cent.

Priestman was alerted to the new surface and quickly signed up to use it. He said: "We want to coach the children in the best environment
